

We sat down to tapas (Pat gives it a thumbs up), placed our order, then the table started shaking. I turned to ask Ava to stop kicking the table leg, when I realized my chair was also moving... along with everything else in the restaurant and, well, on the East Coast!

